

Question 39

Q: How does Femtet deal material properties in the range where the input data does not cover?

A: The required data are linearly extrapolated using the last two points of the available material properties.